Just as we say that the youth of today are the citizens of tomorrow, so is the same with our girls. They are the women of tomorrow. If we want to empower them, we must reduce inequality and gender gaps, and create strong women leaders. We have to let them live today and raise them to be those leaders of equality and development.

The role of education is extremely important here and goes a long way in empowering women. ... At the same time, a society in which girls are educated will see less child marriages, decreased levels of poverty and heightened participation of women in socio-economic processes. Educating a girl has far-reaching impacts.

In lines with the above the institute had promotion of Marathi film "Kanya Ratna" with all of its cast and crew to promote the importance of girl child. The cast interacted with the students and encouraged them to respect women because she is the person behind the family and behind the making of man. This event received very good response
